KILLED HIS WIFE.

Tragedy of a Kansas Farm Life. Husband in Jail.

Kansas City, Mo., June 2.—W. H. Klensmire, whose wife was yesterday found murdered near his home, at Holton, Kans., buried in a shallow trench, was arrested in Kansas City, Kans., today. Marks on the body, which is believed to have been buried since May 19, indicated that her skull had been crushed with a club, and suspicion was directed against the husband, who disappeared on that date.

Klensmire made the following statement:

"My wife and I disagreed frequently, but I usually let her have her way. Just before her death she was very angry because I wanted to sell some land to which she had signed a deed. She said she would leave me. But I did not want people to know she had left me, and told her to say she was going away on a visit. We had a few words on Sunday (May 12) about it. She went away and later I saw her body hanging from a rope in the barn.

"I took her body down, but was afraid of the disgrace and hid it in the straw. The next day I buried it. I told the children she had gone to Texas and the telegram I had sent saying that she was dead was intended to keep them from knowing she had killed herself."

All this was got out of Klensmire in short, hesitating sentences. Asked about the circumstances of his wife's crushed skull he said:

"Maybe the dirt falling on it mashed it in. I wouldn't strike her."

There was not more than two feet of dirt over the body when it was found. Klensmire is a German farmer, forty-eight years old and uneducated. He talks with hesitation, and appears dull of mind. The possibility that he would be tried for murder seemed secondary to the disgrace that would result from the publicity of the affair. Klensmire was born near Holton, and has always lived in that vicinity. His mother and several brothers and sisters live there and are prosperous and respected.

ADDITIONAL PERSONALS

Mr. Tony Winslow is in the city visiting friends.

Dr. George A. Mebane went to Spray this morning.

Mrs. G. A. Mebane left this morning for Graham to visit relatives.

Mr. H. V. Horton, of Asheville, was in the city today.

A Small Runaway.

Messrs. W. T. Powe and D. A. Hodgins, of the Odell Hardware Company, started out to the Carpet Mill this morning in a buggy, but they didn't get there, not that trip. While driving on Elm street, the spindle on the front axle broke. This scared the horse, a high spirited animal, and he ran for a short distance, but was checked by the occupants of the buggy. No other damage was done.

SUNDAY COLFERS ARRESTED.

YONKERS CLERGYMEN PUT A STOP TO THE SUNDAY GAME.

A Prominent Golfer Arrested While Playing With Ladies, But the Ladies are Not Disturbed—An Old Man Calls in Question Which Day of the Week is the Real Sabbath.

Yonkers, N. Y., June 2.—Benjamin Adams, a member of the Board of Education of this city, was arrested here today for playing golf at the Saegkill Golf Club links on North Broadway. He was accompanied to the links by Walter W. Hodgman, secretary of the Otis Elevator works, who, however, was not arrested, but went to the police headquarters with Mr. Adams to bail him out. The latter was released on bail to appear before the police Magistrate tomorrow morning. At about the same time that the police were arresting Mr. Adams Mr. John C. Havemeyer was preaching from the pulpit of the Central Methodist church of this city denouncing the practice of desecrating Sunday with games and by working. He was vigorously denounced by an old man in the audience, who stated that he had come from New York to answer Mr. Havemeyer, as the millionaire had been advertised to speak from the pulpit.

The arrest of Mr. Adams is the result of the petition presented to the Police Commissioners by a number of Yonkers clergymen protesting against the Sunday baseball playing in Yonkers and demanding that the police enforce the law impartially and said that golf playing must be included in the prohibited sports. When this announcement was made it raised a storm of indignation among the ball and golf players and a number of the latter served notice on their pastors that they would sever their connection with their churches unless the ministers disavowed their signatures to the petition. The result of this was that two of the ministers wrote to the local papers and stated that they had only signed to the petition at the request of a fellow minister and did not even know where the ball grounds were situated. Last Sunday the ball players went out of town to play, but the golf players posted lookouts to watch for the police. In this way they managed to successfully elude the police. Today they were not so successful. Detectives Welsh and Robinson surprising Mr. Adams in the act of playing.

The case will be taken to the highest courts in the event of a conviction. Mr. Adams will be defended by J. Livingston Morse of the Pallisade Commission, who is a resident of this city. The arrest of Mr. Adams was made while he was at play with a number of women members of the club. They, however, were not subjected to the ignominy of a ride in the patrol wagon as was Mr. Adams. The names of the women are all withheld by the club members.

As a result of the agitation here John C. Havemeyer of the multi-millionaire family of sugar kings today occupied the pulpit in the Central Methodist church to discourse on the "Desecration of the Sabbath." Mr. Havemeyer took the ground that not only were Sunday sports a violation of law and order, but also all forms of Sunday labor. He made the statement that the people should not patronize trolley or steam railroads on Sunday because it tended to encourage corporations to keep their men working on Sunday, thus violating the Fourth Commandment.

The speaker made an earnest address and he was eagerly followed by a congregation of many of the most prominent citizens of the city. At the end of his address Mr. Havemeyer asked if any one present desired any information on any point that he had not fully covered. A venerable looking man arose and said:

"My good sir, will you tell me by what authority you call the first day of the week the Sabbath when the Scriptures tell us that the Sabbath was on the seventh day?"

Mr. Havemeyer made answer, but hardly had he completed when the aged man was on his feet in reply.

"Where can you refer me to, any book or paper that will prove your assertions," he asked. "I challenge you to produce them and know that you cannot. In the name of God Almighty and Jesus Christ I call upon you to repent of your sins and stop desecrating the real Sabbath."

Mr. Havemeyer cut his questioner short by refusing to discuss the question further.

After the services a number of persons crowded about the elderly man as he was making his egress from the church. He would not reveal his identity and when questioned about himself simply said:

"I do not belong in Yonkers, but I came here today to disprove the assertions of this wealthy man."

Comment was made by the congregation on the fact that Mr. Havemeyer had hired a stenographer to be present at the church and take stenographic notes of his address. Typewritten copies were to be made for him today. Surprise was also caused by the appearance at the church door of Mr. Havemeyer's coach with the hired coachman on the driver's seat.

A SQUANDERED ESTATE.

An Incident Illustrating the Enormous Cost of Litigation in New York.

Chicago Tribune.
Samuel Wood, a Long Island millionaire, who died several years ago, provided in his will for the establishment of a college of music in New York City, and set aside over half a million dollars for that purpose, his idea being that in a few years the fund would increase so as to give the people one of the finest colleges of that kind in this country. There was much talk at the time about the generosity and public spirit of the donor and the great good his benefaction would confer upon musical students. Then the talk died away.

Many years have gone by and at last some curious person, remembering the provision of this will and wondering whether the fund was not big enough by this time to be applied to the purpose contemplated, has made some inquiry about it, with the result of discovering that prolonged litigation over the estate has eaten up the property and that there is no prospect the musical college will ever be founded. The money which should have been used for it is in the pockets of the lawyers.

Commenting upon this incident, the New York Tribune says: "At some time in the future the people of this State may perhaps demand that the Legislature shall take some action to diminish the excessive cost of legal proceedings in disputes over wills and estates." But why should there be legal proceedings at all? If Samuel Wood, instead of waiting until he died and was no longer here to look after the business had given the money for the college while he was living, it would have been built and have benefited the public. Now the only beneficiaries are a lot of lawyers. He is not the first who has made this mistake. It is strange that so many wealthy persons, instead of giving their money while living, like Carnegie, Rockefeller, Morgan and Pearsons, and looking after its application, take the risk of defeating the project they have set their hearts on by exposing it to the greed of lawyers. It is not sensible or business-like. Do yourself what you wish done.

Has Duel With a Burglar.

Columbus, Ga., June 2.—At 1 o'clock this morning Officer Herman Reynolds surprised a man in the act of burglarizing the Sixteenth street school building. Officer Reynolds heard a noise in the rear of the building, and went into the yard to investigate. As he turned the corner of the building he distinguished the form of a man in the shadow of the building.

"What are you doing here?" he asked.

Almost instantly the would-be burglar, who was scarcely a dozen steps off, began firing at the officer. Reynolds replied and eight shots were fired in less than a minute's time, each of the men firing four times as fast as they could work their pistols. At the fourth shot the man broke and ran. The officer fired two more shots, by which time his six-shooter had been emptied. He is satisfied that the man was not injured, as he was running like a deer. The officer lost sight of the burglar in St. John's alley. Officer Reynolds could not tell whether the man was white or black.

Victoria and Alexandra.

Harper's Bazaar.

History relates that when the question of a bride for her eldest son was discussed, Queen Victoria at first favored the Princess Alexandrina, of Prussia, who was prominently mentioned together with the Danish princess as a possible bride for the Prince of Wales. Once under the charm of Alexandra's presence, however, Victoria's prejudice in favor of the Prussian lady quickly gave way and her eagerness for the marriage was almost as great as that of her son. Though the long stretch of years that the Princess of Wales has been her daughter-in-law this affectionate interest has grown and strengthened. With it, too, has come the most implicit faith and trust in Alexandra's tactful ability to do the right thing at all times in small affairs as well as in the many public ceremonies that the late Queen more and more frequently relegated to her accredited substitute.

One phase of this confidence will be specially appreciated by women. Alexandra's taste in dress was quickly discovered and accepted, not only by her mother-in-law, but by her husband's sisters as well. She possesses indeed, not only taste, but personal skill in bringing about desired effects. This was notably true in millinery, and Victoria not infrequently availed herself of Alexandra's fingers. More than once the Princess of Wales was sent for in haste while Her Majesty was in the hands of her dressers, to give a becoming or more splendid touch to some bonnet that did not at all suit the Queen. The appeal was never made in vain, and the confident air with which the Empress of India would don her head-gear after Alexandra had revised it was amusing as it was entirely feminine.

Riches of the King's Wine Vault.

New York Herald.

Even the wines in Buckingham and Windsor palaces are in course of being overhauled. Few persons may imagine what immense stocks of wine are lying hidden beneath both buildings. Probably nobody even yet knows not even the king himself, what these cellars contain, though it will soon now be revealed.

These wines have been accumulating for years, even from the time when Queen Victoria came to the throne, and have been constantly added to since. In the old sherry drinking days large quantities of that wine were purchased and stowed away. When sherry went out and whiskey came in the sherry bins remained untouched. In that condition they have now been found. Of hocks, moselles and champagnes there have been found a great abundance. The late Prince Consort was particularly fond of these first named wines. He acquired some very fine vintages. These have been used lately only in the shape of hock and moselle cups at the royal garden parties and at State ball and concerts.

The Big Potato Patch of the World.

Victoria Island, about 20 miles west of Stockton, Cal., is said to contain the largest potato patch in the world. The land is "new," having been reclaimed from swamps. This year about 40,000 acres will be planted in potatoes. These potatoes are sent to San Francisco and shipped all over the Pacific country.

Blood Poison

THE MOST DESTRUCTIVE OF ALL HUMAN DISEASES.

The poison ejected from the fangs of the rattlesnake is not more surely fatal than the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, which pollutes and vitiates the blood, destroys the tissues and bones and eats like a canker sore into the flesh.

This horrible disease appears first in the form of a little sore or blister; soon the glands begin to swell, pimples break out on the body, the mouth and throat become sore, making it painful to eat or swallow; dreadful ulcers appear on the tongue, copper colored spots and other characteristic signs of Blood Poison come as the disease progresses, and the destructive virus takes deeper hold upon the system. The medical men are as sorely perplexed over the character of this blood poison as ever; they tell you to take mercury and potash alternately for three years, but the stomach of no human being can stand this treatment long; besides, they do not cure the disease permanently, as thousands who have tried it know.

WELLINGTON, KAS., Sept., 1900.

I contracted Blood Poison two years ago this fall, and was persuaded to try a medicine widely advertised by a remedy company in Chicago. I was required to pay a large amount in advance, and can truthfully say that I was worse when the treatment was left off than when I began. Reddish pimples would break out and fill with yellowish matter; copper-colored spots of all sizes would appear on my body; my throat was so sore I could scarcely swallow, and my mouth and tongue were seldom free from ulcers; tonsils were swollen, and my hair was coming out rapidly. This was my condition when I began your S. S. S. I have used twenty-two bottles, and am feeling splendid. Every sore on my body has healed, and my appetite good. JAKE MARTIN.

S. S. S. is not a new medicine; for nearly 50 years it has been known and used for this dreadful disease. It has brought new life and hope to thousands all over this land; it will cure you as it has others. Send for our free book on home treatment and write our physicians about your case. We will help you if you will let us; we make no charge for advice, and all correspondence is conducted in strictest confidence.

CAUGHT A DREADFUL COLD.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased."

EXPRESSIONS TO BE AVOIDED.

(The list of words, phrases and expressions to be avoided by students of a well-known college for women includes, says the Philadelphia Times, the following):
 "Well posted," for well informed.
 "Right away," for immediately or now.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever, that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." WINE OF CARDUI

Woman's Crowning Virtue.

BELTON, Mo., July 27.
 For years I suffered terrible pains every month and my doctor told me I could not be cured except by an operation. I felt I could not submit to that and was so despondent I had given up all hopes of a cure. My husband insisted on my trying Wine of Cardui and at last thank God I did try it. Last month I did not have a pain, and did all my work, which I had not done in seven years.

MRS. MINNIE LITTLE.

Wine of Cardui

Modesty is the crowning virtue of American women. It is the trait that all mankind admires. A modest woman is the most pleasing of all created things. Because of this becoming virtue thousands of women prefer to suffer untold miseries rather than confide their troubles to a physician, and to even think of submitting to an examination is revolting. They can't get their own consent to an operation. Wine of Cardui permits sensitive women to retain their modesty. With it they can cure "female troubles" in the quiet of their own rooms. If special treatment is required they can write to the Advisory Department of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., and their letters will be promptly answered by women trained in the cure of womanly weaknesses and irregularities. There should be no hesitation. Delayed treatment means a chronic condition. The longer postponed the harder to cure.

TUESDAY, JUNE 4.

The Washington Post is devoting considerable space, both editorially and in giving publicity to views held by their readers, to the subject of spitting on the sidewalks. We meekly suggest that they follow the example of the "City of Flowers," and pass an anti-spitting ordinance with a filthy lucre clause that would cause the offenders to "fork over" at something approximating the ratio of sixteen to one.

"WHERE ARE THE MEN?"

The Moravian.

Today, the great question that deeply concerns thoughtful people who have the spiritual welfare of the nation at heart is: "Where are the men?" the men who on the Lord's Day ought to be in the sanctuary giving thanks. The most careless observer cannot fail to notice the paucity of men at the stated services in many of our metropolitan churches. It is claimed that more than one half of New York's inhabitants are non-church-goers, and that of those in attendance in Protestant churches not more than 3 per cent. are men.

It is not necessary to go to New York to find churches in which the percentage of attendance is largely in favor of the fairer sex. In Greensboro, the fact that of the communicants at the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, the men, to a large degree, are in the minority, has been commented upon time and again. While it is a fact to be regretted, it is nevertheless a fact.

MELONS.

New York Sun: We regret to say that the watermelon patch has been much reduced. According to a letter in The Atlanta Constitution from Albany, the great Georgian pepo shipping center, the watermelon area is 25 per cent smaller this year than it was last. Naturally prices may be expected to go up. The melon raisers are not alarmed. Perhaps they have yielded to the octopus and voluntarily reduced the size of the crop so as to boost values. Still they have a plausible explanation. They say that "it is a well known fact that two crops of watermelons cannot be successfully grown on the same land within a period variously estimated at from ten to twenty years." The melon farmers have gone from field to field until they have exhausted most of their space so far as watermelons are concerned. Only newly cleared ground avails them. From one point of view this is far from being an evil. The plots incapable of watermelons are occupied by cantaloupes. Let the fittest survive.

The condition of the watermelon and cantaloupe vines is described as far from good. There were impetuous hail and wind storms the first week of May. Some farmers have had to replant their cantaloupe field five times. Still, let us not despair. It is expected that great improvement will be shown in the next few weeks. Perhaps the melon crop is like the Yale crew, always said to be in wretched form until the final day. Perhaps there will be plenty of melons when the right time comes.

If the fact be true that the melon crop is short the condition of ye dorky is indeed most deplorable.

KITCHENER'S ACCOUNT.

Tells of the Battle of Vlawfontein.

By Wire to The Telegram.

London, July 4.—Kitchener's account of the battle of Vlawfontein has just received reports of brilliant engagements on both sides. The British had 1450 men and seven guns engaged. Under cover of a veldt fire the Boers surprised them. After a hard fight the British recovered, and forced the Boers to retreat. The British loss is six officers and 51 men killed and six officers and 115 men wounded with seven missing. Forty nine Boers were found dead on the field.

SIMILAR TO A BROKEN NECK

Engineer Suffering From Fractured Lamine Caused by a Fall.

New York Sun.

James Hoey, 58 years old, a marine engineer, who for some time has been employed in the work of raising the United States army transport McPherson off the Cuban coast, is in a critical condition in the Long Island College Hospital.

Hoey returned to Brooklyn two weeks ago and went to live with his sister-in-law at 61 Bergen street. On Friday night while in the dark hall he slipped and fell backward down the basement stairs. He became unconscious and Dr. E. Parrish of 119 Schermerhorn street was summoned. He ascertained that Mr. Hoey was suffering from a fracture of one of the cervical vertebrae and he had him removed to the Long Island College Hospital.

Drs. A. T. Bristow and William Francis Campbell found that the laminae of the fifth and sixth cervical vertebrae were fractured and that the spinal vericulum was impinged. They cut down the laminae, an operation known as laminectomy, and incased the entire spine in a plaster. The patient was strapped to a board until the plaster had hardened.

Hoey has been conscious ever since he was taken to the hospital and is able to talk to his physicians. He is also able to move his fingers and says he knows he will recover, but he has no sensation of feeling. The physicians say he is in a dangerous condition but do not give up hope of saving his life.

Arrested on Old Army Charges

Butte, Mont., June 2.—Lieut. John M. Neil, an ex-officer of the regular army, stationed at the Presidio, near San Francisco, was arrested here last night by a deputy United States Marshall on instructions from San Francisco charging him with the forgery of vouchers in the army three years ago. He was practically dismissed from the army three years ago on a charge of having been implicated in some alleged peculations at the Presidio, but the shortage was made good, and nothing further was heard of the affair until the arrest last night.

Neill says he is innocent of the charge of forgery. He has a wife and several children residing in Oakland, Cal. His wife is highly connected socially on the coast. For a year Neill has been in the employ of the Anaconda Mining Company as engineer. He will be taken to San Francisco.

Women Are Considered "Poor Pay."

"Tradespeople, in general, consider women as 'poor pay,'" writes Edward Bok, in The Ladies' Home Journal for June. "The vast majority of sheltered women seem to have no conception of the anxieties, trouble, poverty, suffering, privation, injustice and positive cruelty which they directly inflict upon hard-working women by a carelessness in promptly meeting their bills. If this practice were confined to the few one might dismiss it with a shrug or a sigh that it existed at all. But it applies to the majority of women. Let a woman look into this matter carefully and she will be surprised at the evils which result from this careless disregard of obligation. Wherever you find a feminine industry there you find a ledger full of unpaid accounts."

FELL A VICTIM TO SMALLPOX.

MRS. WADTER MARSH DIES OF THE DISEASE THIS MORNING.

Leaves a 14 Months Old Baby Who Now Has the Same Disease—Brought into the Home Through a Colored Nurse Girl.

Mrs. Walter Marsh died early this morning at her home on the corner of East Market and Forbis streets, of morning at her home on the corner of sick only a short time, and the doctors were unable to determine until within the past day or two, just what the disease was. This is the most malignant form of small pox, and is nearly always fatal. The remains were interred this afternoon at three o'clock in Greene Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Marsh is the wife of Mr. Walter Marsh, miller at the Guilford Roller Mills, and has many friends, who mourn her untimely end. She was a daughter of Mr. John Thomas, who resides on East Market street. She was married about three years ago, and leaves a husband, one child, several brothers and a sister.

The house in which Mr. and Mrs. Marsh lived, contained a small pox patient on a previous occasion, and a report was on the streets this morning to the effect that Mrs. Marsh contracted the disease from the contaminated walls of the dwelling. This is not the case. Some time ago she hired as a nurse, a small negro girl. Small pox, in a mild form, existed in the home of this negro girl, and the negroes, instead of letting the fact be known, concealed it. The girl contracted the disease, and thus it was carried into the home of Mr. Marsh. His little baby, fourteen months old, has the disease now, in its mildest form, but no uneasiness is felt on its account. The mother was in ill health, and the more readily fell a victim.

This occurrence goes to show that when small pox exists in a house, and the inmates fail to report it, they should be dealt with summarily. At another residence in the same portion of the city in which this sad death occurred, a family learned only a short time ago, that during the small pox epidemic here in the winter, that their washerwoman had had the disease in her family for some time, and yet continued to call for and do the washing each week. Fortunately in this case no evil results were felt.

MOONLIGHT PICNIC.

A Jolly Party Visits the Battle Ground Last Night—Those Who Went.

Several young people of the city enjoyed the first moonlight picnic of the season last night, by a most delightful visit to the Battle Ground. The party left the city about eight o'clock and returned at midnight. Those who composed the party were:

Miss Catherine Taylor, of Mt. Airy, and Mr. C. H. Murray.

Miss Nettie Murray and Rev. Charles E. Hodgins.

Miss Sadie Fisher, of Concord, and Rev. Leslie Wharton, Missionary from Cuba.

Miss Ella McGee, of Raleigh, and Mr. Sykes.

Miss Lola Reid, and Mr. C. A. Siford.

Miss Minnie Reid, and Mr. Bernie Gilmer.

Miss Mary Stroud, of Florence, S. C., and Mr. Eugene McNairy.

Miss Mamie Stroud and Mr. George Patterson.

Miss Maggie Patterson, of Mt. Airy, and Mr. Jim Rankin.

YOUNG BUSINESS MEN.

Meeting Last Night Well Attended, and the Association Thoroughly Organized—Committees Appointed.

The meeting of the Young Men's Business Association held last night in the reading room of the Southern Loan and Trust Company building was well attended. The committee appointed to report favorably on a permanent name for the organization, decided upon the one under which it was organized, namely, the Young Men's Business Association of Greensboro. The committee also reported suitable by-laws, and they were adopted by the Association. Several matters were discussed relative to the welfare of the city, but at present, they will not be given to the public.

A number of committees were appointed, and the organization was put on a working basis. It was decided that the Association should meet twice a month, on Monday nights. The next meeting will be next Monday night, and after that they will be held twice a month.

REMANDED TO JAIL.

The Negro Woman Who Tried to Make Way With Her Baby is Sent on to Court.

The trial of the negro woman, Jennie Green, an account of whose capture was printed exclusively in yesterday's Telegram, took place this morning before Justice of the Peace Eckle. The evidence introduced went to show that the woman had simply abandoned her child, and on that evidence she was remanded back to jail. None of the evidence showed that she tried to murder the infant. The baby is alive and doing well.

Several cases of abandonment of children by their mothers have come to light in North Carolina in the past few weeks.

The woman was represented this morning by Mr. G. Sam Bradshaw. She will be tried at the present term of court.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Greensboro Lodge Knights of Pythias Meeting Last Night.

Greensboro Lodge No. 80, Knights of Pythias, at their meeting last night, elected officers for the thirteenth month. The officers for the ensuing six months. Two candidates for the First Rank were initiated into its mysteries, and were duly impressed thereby. One new member was added by card.

The officers elected are as follows: Chancellor Commander—C. C. McLean.

Vice Chancellor—J. G. Fowler.

Prelate—J. H. Denny.

Master of Work—J. N. Longest.

Master of Arms—W. R. Pleasants.

Inner Guard—W. F. Young.

Outer Guard—P. E. Stroud.

A GOOD DEED.

Macadam Streets Torn Up, and Then Rolled Smooth.

The county road roller was brought in the city this morning, spikes put in the wheels, and then the roller was rolled over the macadamized streets tearing them up. Afterwards, the spikes were removed, and the roller again run over the streets, leaving them in first class condition. This was done because of the irregularity in some of the streets, which permitted the water to stand in large puddles.

Mr. C. F. McKissen, formerly of Morganton, but now a prominent attorney of Washington City, is in the city attending court.

GOOD COLLECTIONS.

The Library Subscriptions Are Being Rapidly Paid In.

The subscriptions to the Public Library are being paid in rapidly. Mr. Howard Gardner, the secretary and treasurer, will receive your money and give you a receipt. The canvassers will appreciate it very much if you will send them your checks as soon as it is convenient for you to do so. They will also receive new subscriptions.

The Book Committee will begin the selection of books this week.

TO SEE BOOK CASES.

Superintendent Grimsley Goes to Raleigh for that Purpose.

Superintendent G. A. Grimsley, of the Public Schools, left this morning for Raleigh, to investigate the public libraries there with a view to the needs of the public library here. He will also, on his return, stop at Durham, and look over the one there for the same purpose. His trip is especially to see the book cases, and incidentally the shelving, etc.

COURT CONVENED TODAY

No Case of Importance Tried as Yet.

Court met this morning at 9 o'clock. Several minor cases have been disposed of, but nothing of much importance done. Judge W. B. Council arrived last night from his home in Boone, Watauga county, and is presiding.

Bishop Galloway Here.

Bishop Charles B. Galloway, of Jackson, Mississippi, spent last night in the city on his way to Durham, where this morning he delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of that institution. Bishop Galloway is one of the strong men of Southern Methodism.

Gone Fishing.

A party of fishermen left this morning for Hamburg on a fishing expedition. Among those who went were Messrs. Mon Rees, Sam Gilmer, Walter Greene, Frank Dalton, and others.

GAVE HIM LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

TRUSTEES RECOGNITION OF DR. KILGO'S SERVICES.

His Expenses Will be Paid During His Trip to Europe—The Length of His Visit Not Yet Determined.

Durham, June 3.—The forty-seventh annual commencement of Trinity College is now on and it will be the most eventful in the history of the institution before it is through with. The speakers have reputations that are national. The town is already rapidly filling with visitors.

At the annual meeting of the board of trustees, held this afternoon, there were present 31 of the 36 members. Another session of the board will be held tomorrow morning. The following were present at the meeting this afternoon: Hon. J. H. Southgate, chairman; Rev. A. H. Tyree, J. N. Cole, F. A. Bishop, W. C. Norman, G. A. Oglesby, Dr. J. R. Brooks, Rev. S. B. Turrentine, Rev. T. F. Barr, Dr. T. N. Ivey, Rev. J. R. Hurley, W. C. Willson, N. M. Journey, Dr. W. G. Bradshaw, Dr. E. T. White; Messrs. J. R. Brown, J. F. Burton, G. W. Flowers, J. W. Alspaugh, F. Stickleather, R. L. Durham, O. W. Carr, R. A. Meyer, Capt. V. Ballard, secretary. Every member of the faculty was re-elected.

As a compliment for his fine work since he became president of Trinity, the board gave Dr. Kilgo a leave of absence for a European trip, his expenses to be paid by the college. He will attend the Ecumenical Conference, in London, as a delegate from North Carolina, and will then go on an extended trip. It is not known how long he will be absent, nor was his time limited.

Prof. Jerome Dowd and Plato Durham were each given leave of absence to attend the universities in the Old World. The former will go to Germany and the latter to France.

More About Rheumatism.

New York Press.

I have learned a whole lot more about rheumatism. Here is an old-fashioned Texas remedy, with a little guarantee attached: Find a yellow jacket's nest, strip off your upper garments and attack it. Wasps are good too, and some say that hornets and tarantulas are better. This cure is suggested by the "Cherokee Philosopher," who adds that a bee sting is as good for inoculation as vaccine virus, and is a preventive of rheumatism.

The favorite Italian remedy is to eat a red onion every night at bed time, and drink a cup of hot water in the morning. This is in accordance with the tenets of President Harper, of Chicago University, whose admiration of the onion surpasses bounds.

From Chief Police Convention.

Messrs. J. J. Atkins, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Sam T. Shields, of Morristown, Tenn., chief of police in their respective cities, spent today in the city. They were returning home from attending the recent chief of police convention held in Washington City. Mr. Shields is a brother of Mr. M. L. Shields, of this city.

Charged With Assault.

Ben Gant, a colored hack driver, was arrested this morning by Officers Barnes and Alexander. He is charged with an assault upon one Mag McLean, also colored, of Warnersville. The assault is said to have been committed in that suburb last night. He will appear before the mayor this afternoon.

MUSICAL TASTE OF MONKEYS.

According to This Authority It Runs to the Bagpipes of Which They Are Very Fond.

Now that Prof. Garner is instructing us in the language of monkeys, it becomes a matter of family interest, as it were, to note any peculiarities of development in the animals from which the evolutionists maintain that the human race descended or, more properly speaking, ascended. It may be classed with the study of genealogy. The author of "Studies in Corsica" touches on monkey music in speaking of the bagpipe.

"The well-known boast of patriotic Scotchmen that the bagpipe is sacred to Scotland, and speaking a language which only Scotchmen feel, is as slight in foundation as it is dubious in import. In Syria, in Persia, in Afghanistan and India, in fact, throughout the south of both Europe and Asia, the bagpipe is known and is enthusiastically cultivated.

"In India, if I may believe some soldier friends, the pipes attached to the Highland regiments are far more enjoyed by the native population than the best brass bands of other battalions.

"Nay, so much akin to our original nature is the dulcet music of the simple bagpipe that it is the one sort of music which stirs the monkeys. For, according to the testimony of the same officers, the Indian monkeys, although unmoved by bands, are so powerfully fascinated by the Scottish pibroch that when a detachment of Highlanders is marching to the pipes, and when the roadway traversed is lined with trees, the monkeys will follow the troops with signs of delight, scrambling after them from tree to tree. From facts such as these one cannot doubt that the bagpipe is one of our oldest instruments."

MADE THE HOPPERS FRISKY.

Exciting Race Between Kangaroos That Had Been Doped with Whisky.

"The most exciting race I ever witnessed was between three kangaroos," said J. L. Stevenson, of Sydney, Australia, reports the Denver Post.

"A friend of mine, Henry Roberts, has a huge plantation out in the bush in Queensland. One day he said to me: 'Steve, did you ever see a real good kangaroo race?' I had seen the great hoppers playing round the house, but never a race. He disappeared and I dozed off to sleep in my hammock. An hour later I was awakened by the shouts of my host. 'Look! Look!' he cried, in great excitement. 'Here they come!' Glancing out over the broad green pasture north of the house, I beheld the kangaroos. The three were flying over the short grass, neck and neck.

"As they drew nearer I saw that ribbons were streaming from their necks. Red, white and blue were the colors. They approached at astonishing speed, making straight toward Roberts, who held aloft a small basket filled with some vegetable. At last they reached us, a big brown kangaroo with the red ribbon slightly in the lead.

"Roberts emptied the basket before them, and some sugar beets fell to the ground. Eagerly the kangaroos devoured them and an odor of liquor arose. Roberts had fed them beets soaked in whisky, had led them to the edge of the pasture behind the gate and then retraced his steps to the house, calling his pets. At a signal one of his men had lowered the bars, and the intoxicated kangaroos, greedy for more of the strange beets, rushed after their master."

STRANGE MOUNTAIN TRIBE.

Discovery of an Unknown Race of Aborigines in the Wilds of Borneo.

A strange tribe has just been discovered in Borneo by Dr. A. W. Nieuwenhuis, the distinguished Dutch explorer. As he was traveling through the district of Sarawak he heard from his guides that at a little distance there was a mountain tribe which no European or America had ever visited, and straightway he went thither, and in a day or two found himself at the headquarters of these unknown aborigines. At once he saw that they differed from all other natives of Borneo, and he spent some weeks in acquainting himself with their curious customs and also in studying their country, which is entirely unknown to foreign travelers. In this way he accumulated a mass of new material, which he intends to give to the world at an early date in the form of a book.

This is the second journey which Dr. Nieuwenhuis has taken to Central Borneo. He first went there in 1895 and explored the sources of the Kapuas and Mahakkam rivers, after which he returned to Europe, where he at once obtained an appointment as director of the Botanical garden at Buitenzorg. In 1899 he went again to Borneo, intending to thoroughly explore the interior of the country, and it is claimed that in this task he has succeeded better than any previous traveler.

Sweet potatoes may be browned in butter, or sliced, buttered or sugared, and browned in the oven.

Whole leaves of lettuce will keep fresh and crisp in the ice chest for a few hours only.

Sliced cucumbers may be kept a few hours in ice water, but if wilted should not be used.

Summer squash will sour before morning and is not worth warming. Winter squash can be made into pies.

Green corn should be scored, scraped from the ear and warmed quickly in milk to cover, seasoned with salt and butter.

Raw tomatoes, after they have been scalded and peeled, spoil quickly, and they should be stewed directly after the meal, then they can be used in soups, gravies and made dishes.

Potatoes, beets, peas and string beans may be served cold with a salad dressing. So also may asparagus, spinach, cabbage, celery and cauliflower, if they have not been served with white sauce.

Green peas, shelled beans, string beans, stewed tomatoes and onions if served again hot, should be warmed quickly, adding a little water if necessary to keep them from burning.

Cooked potatoes admit of such a variety of methods of reserving that not a scrap ever need be wasted. Left over portions of mashed potatoes should be packed closely in a cup or small bowl, directly after the meal, then cut in slices and browned in hot butter or salt pork fat. Or they may be mixed with beaten egg, made into balls and browned in the oven, or used as a crust for a small pie of warmed-over meat or fish.—American Kitchen Magazine.

RAIL AND TIE.

A New England company has turned out an electric car capable of making 65 miles an hour.

The new trans-Siberian railway, when complete, is to be the safest, cheapest and most comfortable in the world. The safety of the Manchurian line will be due to the flatness of the regions traversed, not a single tunnel being necessary between the Ural and the Amour—that is to say, from one end of Siberia to the other.

In the yards of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, at Fort Madison, Ia., electricity is used to light the signals. The ordinary switch lamp is used with an eight-candle power incandescent lamp inside fitted to a socket. The current is brought to the signal post or switch stand in underground conduits, and is arranged so as to enter the lamp at the top. The experiment is said to be highly satisfactory, and it does away with lamp tenders. The electric lights are very safe from extinguishment by wind or the jar of a passing train.

Eyes carefully examined and fitted with up-to-date spectacles and eye glasses. All work guaranteed.

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or waterbrash, caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do you good.

ARIZONA'S GLASS MOUNTAIN.

Remains of Prehistoric People Found Near an Extinct Volcano in an Unknown Region.

A party of archaeologists and antiquarians have made important discoveries in the hitherto unexplored region at the northern limit of the Harqua Hala range of mountains in Arizona. A great desert and the total absence of water have prevented any previous examination, and only the Indians know of the curiosities of these mountains, says the New York Sun.

One side of one mountain rises in terraces, and presents many features recalling the Grand canyon of the Colorado. The whole mass is of obsidian, or volcanic glass, and glitters in colors of green, blue and black. It may be seen on clear mornings at great distances and the glitter of the mountain has lured many travelers in its direction.

The exploring party found under a high shelving rock a narrow necked olla, or earthenware jar, bottom side up, containing human bones, a broken hammer and a metate, or stone employed by the prehistoric races of Arizona probably for the same purposes as a similar utensil is used by the aborigines of to-day for grinding maize. Slabs, turquoise stones and other curiosities were revealed by digging, and there were marks on buried rocks which were supposed to be inscriptions. A careful study of the curiosities was not made, but another party will be organized for the purpose of unearthing all available relics in the mountain and to study them.

The mountain of glass is a marvel of volcanic upheaval. It is pretty much as the last eruption left it, except that where fractures have occurred the varied and beautiful colors of the volcanic glass are brilliantly reflected. The mountain is dangerous and difficult of ascent, owing to the precipitous terraces and the ice-like smoothness of the surface.

ACTED JUST LIKE SOME MEN.

When This Monkey Got Drunk He Began to Throw Away His Money.

The unusual spectacle of an intoxicated monkey, gaudily dressed in red and gold, throwing nickels and pennies at a crowd of children almost resulted in a tragedy on Chestnut street the other morning, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The monkey was more intelligent than most of his race. He wasn't young, and his queer behavior could not be attributed to his inexperience. Of course, he was the property of an organ grinder. Up beyond First the "musician" stopped and ground out "I'd Leave My Happy Home for You," always a favorite with the neighborhood students.

At a second-story window the little beast saw a man standing. The stranger beckoned and the monkey quickly climbed to him. The window was opened, and the little climber disappeared within. Five minutes later he climbed down the lightning rod. After that the whole monkey family would have been scandalized could they have witnessed his actions. For a block he was unruly. Then he began to separate himself from the money which he had collected. Nickels flew in every direction.

But the animal kept on jabbering. It was not his fault that he was drunk. When he went to that second-story window the young man offered him whisky-soaked bread, and the animal ate heartily.

Rock-a-Bye Baby

These are sweet words, but how much pain and suffering they used to mean. It's different now. Since Mother's Friend has become known expectant mothers have been spared much of the anguish of childbirth. Mother's Friend is a liniment to be applied externally. It is rubbed thoroughly into the muscles of the abdomen. It gives elasticity and strength, and when the final great strain comes they respond quickly and easily without pain. Mother's Friend is never taken internally. Internal remedies at this time do more harm than good. If a woman is supplied with this splendid liniment she need never fear rising or swelling breasts, morning sickness, or any of the discomforts which usually accompany pregnancy.

The proprietor of a large hotel in Tampa, Fla., writes: "My wife had an awful time with her first child. During her second pregnancy, Mother's Friend was used and the baby was born easily before the doctor arrived. It's certainly great."

Commanding Attention

There are several ways of getting attention.

You can attract it, draw it, plead for it, ask for it, and command it.

Which would you rather do with your printed announcement?

Everyone who makes things to sell or who does things for money, has something so say to the public.

The way that you say it is as important at least as what you say.

What you say is your part.

The way you say it is ours.

Printing that cannot be turned down, mislaid, sidetracked or overlooked is the kind we do.

It is distinguished printing—printing that not only may, but which must be seen—printing which doesn't simply ask, but which demands and commands attention.

Are not these the characteristics you want in your printing? Then come in and talk to us about the next booklet, folder, circular or other business-bringing printing thing.

A SPRAINED ANKLE QUICKLY CURED.

"At one time I suffered from a severe sprain of the ankle," says George E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington Va. "After using several well recommended medicines with out success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and am pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed." Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

Mr. W. S. Whedon, cashier of the First National Bank of Winter, Iowa, in recent letter gives some experiences with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

A GOOD COUGH MEDICINE. It speaks well for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy when druggists use it in their own families in preference to any other. "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past five years with complete satisfaction to myself and customers," says druggist J. Goldsmith, Van Etten, N. Y. "I have always used it in my own family both for ordinary coughs and colds and for the cough following la grippe, and find it very efficacious." For sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.
